

There is a moment
When calmness boils over
Inside you

And an excitement is revealed only
Through the irises of your eyes

When people look at you
Not for the dress you're wearing,
The drink you're holding,
Or the smile you're giving

But the strength you are
Grounded firmly down into
The center of the Earth

People can't take their eyes away from you
Your soul is silently spinning
And winning is irrelevant

You are completely and utterly You
And you've found it
From high above
To the presence you create below

You've Unleashed It.
And there's no turning back.

Kahlúa
Unleash It.

Unleash It in Moderation.
